

Dear FCC Commissioners & Staff:

I hear that you're trying to FORCE me to get my DSL service from a no-good phone company. Have you ever dealt with a phone company? Of course you have. They're big and they're dumb and they don't care and you get LOUSY SERVICE.

I carefully bought my DSL service from a non-phone company supplier, after hearing one horror story after another about how the local phone company DSL service sucked, and couldn't give reliable service.

PLEASE. Support competition. Give us an alternative to the big monopolies who don't give a damn about me.

Sincerely,

Terry Phelps
